Mitchell Under Glass . . .

Apollo 14 astronaut Ed Mitchell, in this computer-enhanced version of NASA image AS14-66-9301, is putting up the TV camera at Fra Mauro . . . apparently oblivious to the awesome panorama of a highly deteriorated, highly geometric "glass-like dome" arching overhead. The incredibly complex, 3-D architecture of this ancient, meteorite-smashed canopy is evident when any section of the full 360-degree color panorama, taken at Fra Mauro by Apollo 14 Commander, Alan Shepard, is enlarged (inset). Note sloping "buttresses" -- and compare to identical features seen at Apollo 12 landing site, 122 miles northeast
